

The Board of the European Network for Academic Integrity announces

Call for proposals:
Organization of the ENAI annual conference in 2020

International conferences Plagiarism across Europe and Beyond were organized in Brno, Czechia in 2013, 2015 and 2017. From 2018 these conferences shall be organized annually in different places. Place and organizer are to be decided two years in advance.

Member institutions of ENAI are invited to submit proposals for hosting a future conference including information about

- organizing institution, team, motivation and experience
- venue, including its accessibility from major airport(s)
- ideas on conference programme (in addition to presentations and workshops)
- specific conference topics and themes
- ideas on keynote speakers
- ideas on social programme
- expected conference fee and participation grants/awards
- possible benefits for organizing country and institution.

Proposals shall to be sent electronically to info@academicintegrity.eu no later than 20th of March 2018.

The organizer is allowed (but not obliged) to use the standard conference name (Plagiarism across Europe and Beyond 2020), webpage (www.plagiarism.cz) and e-mail address (conference@plagiarism.cz). The organizer shall make a commitment to transfer 50 % of the conference net profit to ENAI.

The Annual General Meeting (AGM) of ENAI will vote for the best proposal. The AGM will be part of the international conference Plagiarism across Europe and Beyond 2018 in Ephesus, Turkey. All proposals will be circulated in advance and will have an opportunity to be presented at the AGM.

The ENAI Board reserves the right not to consider proposals which do not meet the above conditions.
